Summary

- Jetstar Asia (3K) to launch a codeshare partnership with Air France[#] and KLM[^] for 12 selected routes in Southeast Asia
- Jetstar Airways (JQ) and KLM* to launch a codeshare partnership building on Qantas’ established partnership helping connect the world with Australia

19 December 2019 - Jetstar Asia has announced it is launching a codeshare cooperation with both Air France[#] and KLM[^], while Jetstar Airways will partner with KLM*. The codeshare partnerships mean customers from Air France and KLM can now connect in Denpasar and Singapore, providing them more with options to choose from when travelling to and from Europe.

Customers will benefit from an expanded network of travel options as well as a seamless travel experience with single ticket itineraries and through-checked baggage. Meals and refreshments are also included for Air France and KLM customers booked on a single itinerary when travelling on a Jetstar Airways or Jetstar Asia flight.

Air France and KLM customers will now have access to a wider range of destinations in Southeast Asia by connecting onto Jetstar Asia flights in Singapore, as Air France[#] and KLM[^] place their KL/AF codes on 12 destinations operated by Jetstar Asia.

Destinations include; Da Nang (Vietnam), Ho Chi Minh City (Vietnam), Denpasar (Indonesia), Medan (Indonesia), Surabaya (Indonesia), Phnom Penh (Cambodia), Siem Reap (Cambodia), Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia), Penang (Malaysia), Phuket (Thailand), Yangon (Myanmar), and Darwin (Australia).

KLM is also planning to implement its KL code onto selected Jetstar Airways routes*, providing KLM customers with itineraries beyond Denpasar to four destinations in Australia operated by Jetstar Airways: Adelaide, Melbourne, Perth, and Sydney.

Jetstar Asia CEO, Bara Pasupathi, said he was very pleased to extend Qantas’ already well-established partnership and welcome Air France and KLM to the Jetstar family.

“It is always great to find new opportunities to be able to offer our incredible network to more customers who are looking to explore Southeast Asia and Australia,” Mr. Pasupathi said.

“Changi’s world-class facilities make Singapore the leading choice for customers connecting between Europe and Southeast Asia and Australia”.
