Jetstar Asia to resume low-fare flights between Singapore and Medan

Singapore: Jetstar Asia (3K) has announced the resumption of its low-fare flights between Singapore and Medan, Indonesia, after a four-year suspension.

Commencing on 1 November 2024, Jetstar Asia will become the only low-cost carrier to fly direct between these two exciting cities, with Medan becoming the Singapore low-cost carrier's fourth Indonesian destination, alongside Jakarta, Denpasar, and Surabaya.

The daily return service from Singapore's Changi Airport to Medan's Kualanamu International Airport is expected to carry over 130,000 travellers between the Lion City and the capital of Indonesia's North Sumatra province each year.

To celebrate the launch, special fares are now on sale, starting from just SG$79*, with an exclusive rate of SG$74* for Club Jetstar members.

Jetstar Asia CEO John Simeone said the resumption of the route reflected Jetstar Asia's commitment to expanding its presence in Indonesia.

"Indonesia is a key market for our business and leisure travellers and with the reintroduction of our services to Medan, we'll now be operating over 40 flights into Indonesia each week," Mr. Simeone said.

"We're delighted to reconnect our customers with Medan, a city that offers rich cultural experiences and economic opportunities.

"Being the only LCC to offer direct flights on this route underscores our commitment to making travel more accessible and affordable.

"I want to thank our partners Changi Airport Group and Kualanamu International Airport for their ongoing support, and we look forward to continuing our collaboration to deliver more convenient and low-fare travel options for our customers."
