Jetstar offers over 50,000 new low fares seats for Territorians

Wednesday, 13 March 2024: Jetstar is providing greater choice and travel options for Territorians — adding over 50,000 new low fares seats over coming months by boosting flight frequency and operating larger aircraft on domestic and Bali routes.

Over the next seven months from April to October, the low-cost carrier will:

- Increase weekly services during periods of higher demand on Darwin to Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide, as well as Sydney to Uluru.
- Upgrade from A320 to larger A321neo aircraft between Darwin and Melbourne from 3 July.
- And fly larger Airbus A321neo LRs – the newest aircraft in Jetstar’s fleet – between Darwin and Bali and Adelaide from August 2.

In total, the changes will add 52,000 new low fares seats each year to and from the NT — a total increase of 12% compared to existing services.

22,000 of the new seats are on the Sydney to Uluru route, with an extra two flights a week bringing thousands more tourists to the heart of Australia.

International connectivity

Jetstar flies up to 90,000 passengers to and from Darwin to Bali each year, with the popular route providing Territorians’ a gateway to Asia and beyond.

From Bali, customers can connect to destinations across Asia, the Middle East, Europe and UK on Jetstar, Qantas, codeshare and interline partners.

With just one more hop between Bali and Singapore, customers can link up with Jetstar Asia’s (3K) network of 13 destinations including Bangkok, Kuala Lumpur and Okinawa.

Book now

All the Jetstar flights mentioned above are currently available to book at Jetstar.com with great fares available from April.

One-way fares start from:

- Darwin to Bali: $163
- Darwin to Brisbane: $153 ($143 for Club Jetstar members)
- Darwin to Sydney: $215
- Darwin to Melbourne: $202 ($190 for Club Jetstar members)

Comments from Jetstar’s Executive Manager, Customer Jenn Armor:

“We’re ready to take off more in 2024 to and from Darwin and Uluru.

“Adding 52,000 low fares seats between the NT and four Australian capitals and Bali will give Territorians greater choice and travel options over coming months.

“We’re incredibly excited to be flying the newest aircraft in our fleet, the Airbus A321neo LR, on the popular Darwin to Adelaide and Bali routes from August.

“Bali is an international gateway through which Territorians can access Jetstar’s extensive network across Asia and jump onto Qantas, codeshare and interline partners to the Middle East, Europe, the UK and beyond.”
